ERIC ZEMMOUR & PHILIPPE DE VILLIERS DEFEND ST MICHEL STATUTE IN SABLE DOLONNE

IN THE NAME OF THE JUDEO-CHRISTIAN ROOTS

Paris, Washington DC, 10.01.2022, 02:11 Time

USPA NEWS - Eric Zemmour the candidate for the presidential election of April 10 and 24, 2022, went to Vendee (West of France) in Sables-d'Olonne this Saturday, January 8, alongside Philippe De Villiers his friend and recent support within the framework of his candidacy for the 2022 Presidential election. Philippe de Villiers is a politician, royalist, Christian sovereignist, former MPE (2004-2014) and President of the Region of Vendee (1988-2010) and close of General Pierre de Villiers. It acquired great notoriety thanks to the "Cinescenie" The Medieval Games of Puy du Fou, an attraction game featuring gladiators and other medieval demonstrations (Awarded best European Amusement Park).

CONTROVERSY CAUSED BY THE REQUEST TO REMOVE THE STATUE OF SAINT MICHEL IN SABLE DOLONNE IN THE NAME OF SECULARISM

Indeed, last December 16, the administrative court of Nantes, seized by the Federation of Vendée of the "Free thought", ordered the municipality of Sables d'Olonne to unbolt within six months the statue of the Archangel Saint- Michel. Previously this statute was exhibited in a private school which was destroyed, it was then installed recently on the forecourt of the church of the same name. The “Free Thought of Vendée”, which intends to enforce the neutrality of the public service with regard to cults, considers that this religious emblem does not respect the 1905 law on secularism. Faced with this appeal deemed "abusive" by Yannick Moreau, the mayor of Sables d'Olonnes, the town appealed against the decision. "This affair aroused a legitimate emotion, and our statue has indeed become a national issue and symbol", indicates the city councilor who intends not to remain passive while awaiting the verdict which could intervene in several years.

ERIC ZEMMOUR & PHILIPPE DE VILLIERS DEFEND THE STATUTE OF ARCHANGEL SAINT MICHEL IN THE NAME OF THE JUDEO CHRISTIAN ROOTS OF FRANCE----------

It is therefore in this context that Eric Zemmour and Philippe de Villiers, went to the town hall of Les Sables, where a private interview was scheduled with the mayor Yannick Moreau (various right-wing and Les Républicains until 2017). The candidate Eric Zemmour for the Presidency of the Republic and his main supporter in the Pays de la Loire, went there to defend the maintenance of the statue of the Archangel Saint Michael, a religious symbol whose Judeo-Christian roots they claim. France. Eric Zemmour being a Berber Jew from Algeria, and Philippe de Villiers aristocrat, Christian. This is why they took a walkabout around this statue of Saint Michael, the subject of great controversy, for which the administrative court requested the withdrawal of public space a few weeks ago. This withdrawal of the Statute of the Archangel of Saint Michael is a sign of "cancel culture", the erasure of the French identity, which would be at work in our country, according to Eric Zemmour who spoke later, in the hall of the town hall. Another topic was raised by the candidate, was to point out the exemplary rate of unemployment rate in Vendee, as well as a bold entrepreneurship, echoing the strong job creation in this geographical area of ??France and the success story of "Cinescenie", founded by his friend Philippe De Villiers, which happens to be the most popular and famous medieval games attraction in France.

5 STARS GENERAL PIERRE DE VILLIERS FORMER COMMANDER IN CHIEF IS THE BROTHER OF PHILIPPE DE VILLIERS----------

The five-star general, Pierre de Villiers (His real name is "Pierre Le Jolis de Villiers de Saintignon", aristocrat, known as Pierre de Villiers) is the most popular soldier in France and the brother of Philippe de Villiers. Aged 64-year-old Pierre de Villiers was appointed Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces on February 14, 2014, until his resignation in the summer of 2017, following a violent disagreement between him and the President of the French Republic Emmanuel Macron. The clash concerned the budget of the armies, whose envelope is reduced by 850 million euros. Pierre de Villiers thus resigned from his functions on July 19, 2017. Since then, he wrote a first book « To « Serve » in 2017, then a second book« "who is a chef" both best sellers and also evokes the election presidential election of 2022 during his interviews.
